

Hettich
inside

We gravitate toward any application

Hettich is proud to be a part of the Human Research Facility (HRF) rack 2 in the Destiny laboratory of the International Space Station. As part of the world's only materials and life science laboratory orbiting the earth, Hettich is contributing in the effort to improve medical research and technology for the future of human life. This attainment directly relates to where our products reside on a daily basis. Our centrifuges are found inside many clinical and research laboratories all over the world. Once again contributing to the science and research that will improve our way of life.

For more information please visit our website www.hettweb.com.

Hettich Centrifuges Over 100 years of quality, safety & reliability

Hettich